

WWII Prisoners of War, taken from Guam to Japan

There were 487 people taken prisoner of war on Guam in December 1941, according to research by Roger Mansell. They were taken to Japan on 10 January 1942 aboard the Argentina Maru.

Of those taken, some were exchanged for Japanese prisoners of war and went home early such as the five nurses and one military wife and her newborn baby girl. Bishop Miguel Olano and his assistant Jesús de Begona were released once they got to Japan because they were Spanish citizens. Only nineteen POWs died while in Japan.
